

Resource type: external

Alliancing Code of Practice - Section 3.1 Creating an alliance. Alliancing Best Practice in Infrastructure Delivery - Section 2.1 Behaviour Characteristics & Section 2.4 Commercial Characteristics. Alliancing Code of Practice - Figure 4 Creating Integrated Teams.

With multiple partners being brought together to form a single delivery entity, integration of these partners and the development of integrated teams is an essential capability. Working to a highly visible common performance structure and integrating the client organisation within the delivery alliance helps deliver good results. Co-location of core teams can also act as an enabler to integration.

An example of alignment of goals between client, alliance partners, contractors and supportive systems is shown below.

